India's sensational cross-border raid

NEW DELHI: India's sensational, and successful, cross-border raid in Myanmar is not likely to go unnoticed in its neighbourhood, especially across its western border where Pakistan has long been preparing to thwart a similar surgical strike by developing tactical or non-strategic nuclear weapons.
Whether or not India can carry out such a strike on Pakistan territory is a question likely to be debated with much enthusiasm after the Myanmar swoop down. The government will also be under pressure to retaliate similarly if another Mumbai like attack takes place anywhere in India.

It was in response to India's so called cold start doctrine that Pakistan started to focus on acquiring smaller, low-yield or what are called tactical nuclear weapons to deter Indian troops from entering its territory. The cold start, which the Indian army has never publicly acknowledged, envisages counterattack across the border within hours of a terror attack to neutralise terror groups and camps. Unlike Myanmar, Pakistan will look upon such an incursion as an assault on its sovereignty.

Army launches massive hunt operation in Manipur against militants after deadliest attack in 33 years

It was after the Mumbai attacks that Pakistan intensified its attempts to develop these non-strategic weapons. In a 2012 report, US nuclear expert Hans M Kristensen identified Pakistan as among the 5 countries which either had or were developing tactical nukes, the others being China, Russia, France and US.

Recommended By Colombia

As the Indian Army confirmed in its announcement, the attack was not just retaliatory, with 18 army men being killed by rebels in Manipur last week, but also pre-emptive in nature as those eliminated were said to have been planning more attacks in India. The sui generis nature of the cross-border raid has given rise to suggestions that India under Modi may be veering towards former US president George Bush's doctrine of pre-emption which was accommodative of unilateral military action.

In the case of Pakistan though, what is of serious concern to India is the fact that along with its tactical nukes Pakistan has also simultaneously developed the short-range, nuclear capable Nasr missile.

According to Kristensen, Nasr seemed intended for use against any likely invasion by Indian troops which Pakistan may not be able to stonewall through its conventional capabilities. The ballistic missile can fire up to 60 kilometres and can be launched from a mobile twin-canister.

"Following its first test launch in April 2011, the Pakistani military news organization, Inter Services Public Relations, described the Nasr as carrying a nuclear warhead 'of appropriate yield with high accuracy', with 'shoot and scoot attributes' that was developed as a quick response system to 'add deterrence value' to Pakistan's strategic weapons development programme 'at shorter ranges' in order 'to deter evolving threats'," Kristensen had said in his report.

Probably porkisthan will be similarly attacked in end of 2018 or beginning of 2019. That will ensure victory in elections or becomes a ground for clamping emergency - another similarity with late Indira ji.

The message will remain a message. Myanmar(or Bangladesh) is different from Pakistan. Message will be taken/seen as a BLUFF by Pakistan , because Pakistan knows it opponents well. This action (very commendable though) is being used as a 'message' for INTERNAL CONSUMPTION to PUMP UP BJP/Modi Bhakths. Pl. remember BJP HAS BEEN BENDING backwards for long time to please JIHADIST in KASHMIR. . They also released and ESCORTED JIHADIST to Pakistan.

Pakistan needs a twin-pronged strategy.

1) When it barks, we bite....and Otherwise,
2) Let the sleeping dog lie ...

we can't forget the shameful decision of Pokhran2, which triggered pak to test its own and ultimately got legitimacy as a nuclear nation. India was nuclear in 1974 itself. Then 2 more shameful acts of Kandhahar and Kargil. In 5 years rule 3 biggest damages happened.

true...pakis knows it very well that one nuclear mistake by them will sign their death warrant and na-pakistan will be obliterated from the map of this world. The worst race of this world resides in pakistan which uses terrorism as their state policy to settle issues with their neighbors. Moreover it's the civilizational difference between pakistan and India that never allows them to have peace. India response in such a scenario will and surely be so strong that generations after generations taking ... Read More

In 1971 war, Pakis ran away leaving their Paton tanks which India captured. During Kargil, Pakis were licking the boots of US to ask India to save Paki skin. In next war there won't be any Pakistan on world map. Congress is gone for ever, Pakis know it.

ask your paki fathers to repeat some of their adventures this time....the disproportionate reply pakis border firing by India forces last year is a lesson enough. But pakis being eternal napakis can not learn it, high time India raises the cost for their mistakes. India won three wars but failed to raise the cost to pakis...this time things will be different. Ask your lapdogs like Dawood, Hafiz, Lakhwi to react and see the reaction for last time ever.

What proof when Myanmar has supported our army to do it on their land? This is not 56 inch chest at all. Do it in Porkistan? I will lick the feet of Narendra Modi. Has he got the guts to do it. No. Never. So forget about surgical attack on the land of Porkistan. I would love to see our Indian army crush terrorists on the soil of Porkistan. But I doubt it will ever happen. All because after so many attacks on Indian soil by terrorists and still continuing, our raring to go Indian army is stopped ... Read More

Yes, I agree Pakistan has nuclear weapon, but we also too have. Also, what Pakistan understand very well is - compared to India, Pakistan is a very small country. if there is a nuclear war, we may loose one of our city but entire Pakistan will be removed from world map as retaliation. So, they will not use nuke, they will only bark.

Rightly said; what happens if Pak fires the nukes at us - they will lose the very reason for their existence; whom will they blame for their own failures? stupids wanted their own country-for what? they cannot manage their own country properly; mere acquisition of nukes prove nothing; does it have the will power to use it? it believes only in troubling our nation - just like the prickly heat does us during summer; sheer jealousy at our prosperity! their army and the govt are surviving purely by stoking ...

Sure we will destroy Pak, but half destroyed India could be a weak entity and US, China may jump in to stop nuking Pak with strong arm tactics.

Our no first use policy is very clear, we are going to retaliate the moment a missile is launched towards India, irrespective of the missile being nuclear tipped. This was the policy formulated by Congress.

Pakistan may go for first strike and can inflict substantial damage to us...

But then, Pakistan's name will be shifted from Geography books to History books...

Nuclear weapons are not weapons of attack,they are more weapons of deterrence.However,the country that uses even a tiny one becomes an instant pariah for the whole world and invites the inevitability of a devastating second strike.

Agree, but with a small change - Nukes are useless against a country that also has nukes. Any first use will assure annihilation of the attacking country. In case of Pakistan there aren't many places to drop the many nukes India has. For example, neither Pakistan nor India has used nukes during Kargil.

"I Talker" - India and Myanmar cooperate on terrorism issues. The raid was done with approval of Myanmar, who is our ally against terrorism. Your ignorant comments tell us about your poor level of knowledge. You must be a Pakistani.

Unless you are a suicide terrorist, who don't give a whit about anyone. This is why it is so important to keep a democratic government - no matter how stupid - in Pakistan. There are worse alternatives.

Even Pak and NK are not at that level of insanity yet. Pak is better than NK in this respect - they have a semblance of a democratic government. Even in NK Kim John Who (or Whatever) knows that his days at the pleasure palace with girls culled from all over NK will come to an end if he uses the nuke. That's his deterrence.

FYI more deaths in the world is caused by mere mosquitoes only. Mosquitoes are more deadly than Lion. So without underestimating, India is dealing with mosquitoes & Lion in different ways. It is foolishness of you to assume that India's reaction will be same for both.

Security Guard...? what a bizzarre comparison..?? Forces are there to fight terrorists whoever they are...with limited resources or unlimited resources. The credit to Modi is that he allowed these things to happen, nothing else. Just to display the sheer power, forces will not start finding Aliens from Mars and kill them. And you are sensing like you are feeling ashmed of the security forces work?

It is not merely the question of chasing a small group of terrorist and eliminating them; it is the manifestation of will-power to take the right steps to curb cross-border terrorism; what if the dacoit has killed a few of us initially, it was sheer because of the surprise element, which does not exist anymore; the message is loud and clear - no place to hide for the people with petty and self defeating ideologies; that is an achievement per se;

Water buffalo "You cannot realistically hope to prevent each terror attack because the timing and the target is determined by the enemy. But how do you respond is your prerogative. And it is the response which defines your determination to use all responses at your disposal to strike at those responsible."

Al Qaeda did 9/11, killing 3,000 Americans. America & Co. then retaliated, resulting in more than 100,000 Arab deaths in Iraq war zone alone.

As if Iraqi's did 9/11, you prove the point that retaliation only hurts third parties. A proper response would have been to go after Al Qaida and their backers. Same case go after the manipur separatists and missionaries funding them, not some innocent villagers.

Who told you that the killed were villagers? Are you a relative of them? Do you listen to some news or what? There are designated departments to do all these investigation & ground work. All separatists, militants and their supporters like you are cowardly hypocrites who celebrate the death of civilians of your enemy nation but when the time comes to pay the prize will start begging for dear life in all possible ways.

There is no difference btw Buddhisht and Hindus.Both are Sanatana Dharama. Gautam Buddha is 10th awtar of Hindusim. All tenets of Buddhism is offshoot of Hinduism .

You go and read how Islam destroyed Buddhist empire from Central Asia to Afshanistan and Pakistan.Even recently, they demolished Bamiyan Statue and destroyed world class universitues of Taxila and Nalanda

This is a problem of BJP Bhakthas ; more you try to correlate chest size with bravery probably you would end some thing wrong; many people including women have such big chest size.

Do you want to know what is trues bravery; it is Indhra Gandhi who taught Pakistan a lesson which so far no NDA government PM could do it.

Also let BJP not forget the lesson or two Pakistan taught to Atalzi ; Khandhar incident and Kargil incident.

That is the story of so called bravery of B ... Read More

The raid was done with approval of Myanmar, who is our ally against terrorism. Same Naga terrorists also attack Myanmar army at times. Both govts benefit from cooperating against the terror groups. We should appreciate the friendship we have with Myanmar and be supportive to them.

The Blackies' Indian kanjurkhana will be turned into smoke and ashes , the nukes if needed will be shoved in the asshoIe of all the Ramas and Krishnas and the elephant faced madhurchodhs. Nukes are for this day only. Blackies will never dare to take any chances. Otherwise there is no use of keeping nukes and the radar evading stealth missiles which cover every inch of Indian kanjurkhana.

First be capable of producing a needle then talk loud. You are surviving on the alms of US and Saudi. If they stop giving you alms, you are dead.

I'm not a Pakistani but why are you bring religion here. The same followers of Prophet Muhammad (P B U H) fcukked ur ancestors thru and fro. It will be nice if you restrict your discussion limited to Pakistan and not bring religion in this.

@HEREMMONGOL,

Can you stop false Taquiah Deceit. Pakistan creation is a testimony of curse of Islam onto division of India. Jinnah two nation theory proposed that ISLAM is a CULT that transcends language and culture and Muslims cannot live along with non beleivers.

Pandit Vithal Rao, veteran ghazal singer, goes missing

PTI | Jun 9, 2015, 10.29 PM IST

MUMBAI: Legendary ghazal singer from Hyderabad, Pandit Vithal Rao has gone missing from the pilgrim town of Shirdi in Ahmednagar district since the last ten days, his family member said.
A team of Rao's pupils have launched a search operation.

"When my entire family came out after seeking Sai Baba's darshan at the Shirdi temple on May 29, we found my father missing," Vithal Rao's daughter Sandhya, who has been camping in the pilgrim town ever since, said.

"We immediately informed the local police, but they have done nothing to trace my father. Had they done their job, we would have found him by now," she alleged.

Noted ghazal singer Talat Aziz, who knows the ghazal legend since his childhood, told PTI, "Rao sir is the last court singer of the Nizam of Hyderabad who has expertise in Urdu, Persian, Hindi and Sanskrit and sang Sufi lyrics by Amir Khusro."

"It is really sad to know that he has gone missing. I pray for his well-being," he said.

Soma Ghose, a classical singer and ardent fan of Rao, also expressed deep shock.

Rao's students, including those from Mumbai, have posted a page on Facebook titled 'Finding Vithal Rao'.

According to his student Indira Naik, Rao has been suffering from memory loss.

"Raoji is presently suffering from loss of memory, which has made matters worse. All efforts to trace him have so far been unsuccessful.

"We are going to circulate our Guruji's picture in the local media. We hope to find him very soon," Indira said.
