For once, 'Truth alone triumphs' would sound like a perfect phrase for the current scenario as now Tamil Nadu Chief Minister J Jayalalithaa is finally convicted after an 18-year long trial. The case which was filed on 14th June 1996 by now senior BJP leader Dr Subramanian Swamy saw the truth unfold after 18 years.

Jayalalithaa is convicted in the graft case and is served a sentence of four years in jail with immediate legal effect. It means that Jayalalithaa should be taken into custody instantly. The bail for the same can only be filed in the High Court and with High Court on vacation the days are tough ahead for 'Amma'. Not only does a four-year jail-term await her, but she has also been slapped with a fine of 100 crore.

Only couple of weeks back, Jayalalithaa had filed six defamation suits against Dr Subramanian Swamy. The battle between Swamy and Jayalalithaa is out in the open for long. Now that the judgement is out, the Twitterati like always is abuzz with the recent developments. We bring to you some of the most amazing reactions on the social media below:

JJ tried to influence Judge Da Cunha through the Pastor of the church to which th judge attends. JJ's silent support to Church causes in TN & KA was the main reason behind it. The Pastor after the Sunday sermons, asked for a quick "special prayer" meeting with the Judge & he obliged. When the "small prayer" was over, the Pastor asked Jude Da Cunha, if he can go easy on JJ & let her go on the DPA case. You know what the Judge said? "Dear Pastor, Please stick to your sermons within the 4 walls of this Church & not interfere with Judiciary. This is a not only an advice but a stern warning too. If you insist further on this, I will not hesitate to break the chain bearing the cross that I wear & throw the Bible that I carry, on your face". The pastor was stunned.

JJ, in doing this, might have just dug her grave
