Myanmar op: How India crossed the line and completed mission in 45 minutes

NEW DELHI: Army sources said on Tuesday that at least 20 militants were killed in the operations across the border in Myanmar and conceded that retaliatory attacks were a possibility in the coming days. "We would keep up pressure on them," one senior officer said, indicating the possibility of more such cross-border operations.

And unlike what has been reported in the media, an Army source said: "There was no heli-drop. It was a one-night, ground operation. We couldn't have carried out a heli-drop because that would have alerted the militants." The SF troops were moved close to the border in advance by helicopters.

Inside story: Over 100 northeast militants may have been killed in Army's Myanmar operations

On Monday night, about 20-25 commandos trekked across the porous frontier into Myanmar. For some stretch of the approach to the camps, the commandos crawled to move in undetected.

2 Soldiers trek through forest, cross border, walk past Myanmarese army camp, set up post 2-3 km inside Myanmar

3 Two camps attacked: NSCN(K) camp at Ponyu/Kemphu and a UNLF camp at Aungzeya

About 25 commandos of the 21 Para Special Forces (SF) battalion were involved in the 45-minute-long raids on two militant camps across the India-Myanmar border. An SF battalion usually comprises four teams, each of about 100 commandos. These are further divided into groups and then into squads.

According to sources, these highly-trained Special Forces personnel had been operating in Jorhat, Assam, and surrounding areas. "They are trained for such operations, so the turnaround wasn't very long," one source said. These operations are part of the ongoing Operation Hifazat in the Nagaland-Manipur-Arunachal Pradesh area, but this top secret cross-border raid had no specific name.

25 of the soldiers were commandos

Army's Take On Militants Hit

20 killed	11 seriously injured	15 slightly injured

HOW THE PLAN UNFOLDED

- Four states – Arunachal, Nagaland, Manipur and Mizoram – share the 1,640-km porous border with Myanmar manned by Assam Rifles
- Mizoram border with Myanmar | 404 km
- The strike on the ultras' camps, a 45-minute operation, was part of ongoing Op Hifazat in Nagaland-Manipur-Arunachal area
- Operation cleared by PMO June 7
- UAV & satellite imagery helped plan raids
- Indian troops trained for three days at makeshift camp ahead of raid
- On June 5 NSA Doval and the Army chief travelled to Manipur to plan the operation

According to information sent by Tatmadaw (Myanmar army) battalions on the ground ... military operation performed on Indian side at India-Myanmar border

Once specific intelligence inputs came on the two camps, showing that they were housing several NSCN(K) militants, and of other groups such as PLA (Peoples Liberation Army of Manipur), UNLF (United National Liberation Front) and the MNRF (Manipur Naga Revolutionary Front), the plan for the commando raid moved quickly. "Inputs clearly said that some militants in the camp were involved in the attack on our troops in Chandel last Thursday," one source said.

Recommended By Colombia

At a camp in the Ponyu area, the NSCN(K)'s 3rd brigade is based. And among its cadres were those who participated in operations against the Army. In Aungzea area was the other camp which housed a mixed group of militants. Both camps had about 25 militants. "There was only a bit of resistance. We almost completely surprised them," a source said. "The militants didn't expect India to cross the border. That barrier has been breached."

MHA says 50 dead, Army 20

More than 24 hours after the Special Forces' raid on militant camps in Myanmar, there was no credible confirmation about the final toll. Some sources put the total number of dead at about 100. But army sources said their final count was 20. According to army, 11 militants suffered serious injuries while 15 others suffered light injuries. Meanwhile, MHA sources said the toll was around 50 at least.

It will be not independent. But the way our military entered in Myamar shows that the border between two countries are not protected properly. If our personnel can reach there unopposed that means from there side many are coming unopposed. This thing create more dough for the claim of our solders.

Congrats to Indian Army for Hot Chasing of North East Rebels. This is Not the First Instance at all. India has Carried Out Many Bigger Operations in Many Countries like in Sikkim, Bangladesh, Maldives, Sri Lanka, Bhutan and Nepal. etc. Generally, Mature Govt.s never Do Chest Thumping or Brag about Hot Pursuits of Terrorists by Crossing in to Neighbouring Country. The same Restraint is to be Shown by Media. ,

No you are wrong sir. The entire operation was carried out by Pappu Gandhi & his able coach Diggy. They should be handed out Param Veer Chakra for this.

Why could the congress not allow the army to tackle such infiltrations for the past 67 years? Bcoz congress was busy filling suit cases with money. What a disgrace?

May be congress did not advertise liek Modi.. PV Narasimha rao ordered strikes in PoK.. that is what I call Gutsy.. so there are people who only take credit and there are people who just work with no expectations.. if you have time go and read how MMS has changed our economy.. he will not take credit .. he is not marketing manager like Modi.. its personality boss.. one needs popularity one needs just work.. but now you may write bad words for me as I am supporting MMS.. but this is up to you..

 We dont need to reveal the itineraries of the attack. Prompt action is what is required. Myanmar has always harbinger-ed seperatists and their Govt have a very ill reputation around the world especially because of their military junta.

If the whole operation was so true and successful, why is the Army/govt generously splashing the details in the media? And if the Army sources say "at least 20 militants" were killed, the cross-border operation using so much of resources shouldn't be celebrated with so much of chest-thumping. Of course the govt knows we Indians need something to feel good about after 18 Army personnel were killed.

Now time has come when we should react like US .... no more feeding the jihadis... just blow them out .. ek ke baadle 100 maro ... you kill one, we will kill 100 .....Good job by the army and present govt.

As much as I rejoiced at the news of the Army operation, now I am beginning to doubt the accuracy of the "surgical strike". The aggressive PR exercise apart, all the numbers of casualties on the militants' side are hugely inconsistent. Initially media said 100-200, then 50, some say 17, some say 20, and some say 40, all quoting mysterious insider sources. Anyways, I hope and pray the govt. follows through with bold policies and concrete steps to bring lasting peace and stability in the ... Read More

Military operations around the world are often a sensitive affair. Therefore, it is imperative that details regarding the operation are kept classified. That we hear in the news are only assumptions or filtered truth. Nothing's black and white in the world of military operations. It's not that simple. Same goes with the annulment of AFSPA. Before AFSPA, Manipur was hell on Earth overrun by militants. Have you heard that they threatened and harassed the citizens if they don't comply to their demands? ... Read More why don't more and more of your people in manipur, assam, arunachal, come forward and give the factual position in the social media, forums, letters to TOI,etc. is it because manhy of your people are not well educated? it is well known that any so called freedom movement becomes a mob sooner or later. look at tamilnadu: the punjabi dominated government tried to impose hindi. they stood up as one people and made it clear very forcefully that it was not welcome. stand as one and demand. do not indulge ...

One of Many Lies of Modi. Congrats to Indian Army for Hot Chasing of North East Rebels. This is Not the First Instance at all. India has Carried Out Many Bigger Operations in Many Countries like in Sikkim, Bangladesh, Maldives, Sri Lanka, Bhutan and Nepal. etc. Generally, Mature Govt.s never Do Chest Thumping or Brag about Hot Pursuits of Terrorists by Crossing in to Neighbouring Country. The same Restraint is to be Shown by Media.

Last Govt.. : strong condemnation of the lives lost of our soldiers.. Enemies having a laugh at nations expense and planning for next cowardly attack..

This Govt : strong and disproportionate reaction. Boosting the esteem of our armed forces. Enemies thinking twice before any shenanigans.

Maheshji, you should know that without the go ahead signal of the Head of the Government such operation cannot be done. I would like to remind you that during Indo-Pak war when Nehru was the PM and Pakistan occupied a portion of Kashmir (now called POK) the then Army Chief wanted Government permission to march towards Lahore. Had PM given go ahead signal then the POK would have been non-existent today. Therefore do not belittle Modi and his Government.

STRING reply is the word now a days. We are living in era of IS. Do you think they care about peace. They will kill women, children or anybody coming on their way. So now is the time that militants need to understand that "A weak govt in center is gone". Once violence is gone ... business will prevail and people will ... Read More

Know more about Times Points

Daisy Alvarez - mumbai - 3 years ago -Follow

You need to understand that these numbers are just to create confusion and doubts in the minds of people. The reality is - Indian Army Commandos just destroyed the terrorists camps inside Mayanmra. So, do not bother too much of the numbers and counts.

These are secret missions and govt will never ever publish exact nos.. Don't run after nos, the point is , Indian Army crossed border , traced them , attacked them....Feel proud of them..We should stay with Government when they do something good , not just doubting each and everything.

Rajnath Singh says rewrite history to honour forgotten heroes

TOI

LUCKNOW: Union home minister Rajnath Singh on Wednesday called for rewriting history to include stories of heroes like 11th century backward caste king Raja Suheldev Pasi in textbooks.

“Since the records of the country have been written mostly by historians from the West, I urge present-day historians to look into the misses and flaws and, if need be, rewrite the history in right perspective,” Singh said at a function to honour Suheldev, who had defeated Turkish warlord Mahmud Ghaznavi’s nephew, Salar Masood, in the 11 century at Bahraich.

He said people should not look at such personalities on the basis of caste but as national heroes.

Vishwa Hindu Parishad patron Ashok Singhal, who was present at the function, stressed on projecting Suheldev as a nationalist and Hindu hero rather than a Dalit royal.

“We should be ready to see all these sub-castes as Hindu heroes,” Singhal said. He urged the people to leave caste divide behind and work for the country’s progress.

Singhal raked up the issue of the Ram Temple and said peaceful Muslims were ready to give up three disputed sites to the Hindus.

He hit out at Uttar Pradesh minister Ahmad Hasan without naming him for objecting to their viewpoint.

“A retired IPS officer, who has become a minister and a Muslim leader in the government here objected to some Muslims agreeing to hand over the three disputed sites in Ayodhya, Mathura and Kashi to the Hindus if other disputed mosques are not touched.”
